

Supporting your return-to-the-workplace strategy with Sydney Care

The mobile app that checks for COVID-19 symptoms and risk and connects your employees to care

As your employees begin to return to the workplace, Sydney Care offers easy and convenient tools to help fight the spread of COVID-19 and connect your employees to care when they need it. From its AI-powered symptom checker to care from real doctors, Sydney Care delivers a solution that can help your employees feel at ease going back to the workplace.

The Sydney Care app has a return-to-the-workplace solution that includes:

New Daily COVID-19 Check-In

Before going to the workplace each day, employees can evaluate their health from home with this new check-in tool. The Daily COVID-19 Check-In asks a few quick questions about recent exposure risks and an employee's health at that moment in time. Clear and easy-to-read results will tell them if they should be okay to enter the workplace that day or provide guidance on what to do next.

COVID-19 Assessment

If an employee's check-in results say their risk is higher, they can use Sydney Care's COVID-19 Assessment. This assessment digs deeper into their symptoms and potential risk for COVID-19 by asking more specific questions based on guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Virtual care

After the assessment, employees can connect with a board-certified doctor virtually through text or video for a care visit. Virtual care is a convenient way for employees to have their condition assessed, receive a diagnosis, and have prescriptions or labs ordered, if needed. A doctor can also recommend whether they should be tested for COVID-19.

It is important for everyone returning to the workplace to feel that they can do so with minimal COVID-19 risk. Daily check-ins and being able to connect to care will help look out for the health and peace of mind of your employees. Track check-in results with daily reports

Summary reports showing individual and organization-wide check-in results are available daily. These summaries can be used to identify potential risks and monitor trends among the workforce. With this up-to-date information, managers can put additional health and safety measures in place.

All Sydney Care COVID-19 recommendations follow guidance from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.
